

Feedback for Assignment 2:

Sarah: I really love dogs and I also have dogs in my home, and I also love reading novel, and I hope for some day I can read novel written by you

Will: I am very surprised that you have the same goal with me, and I also curious about the graduate rate for math students in four years because it's actually a difficult major. The only thing I think need to prove is some grammar problem.

Derek: Machine Learning is a very cool area, and it has actually used a lot for now. I really love it. I could also consider it as an option for my future career development.

Abby: Environment is definitely a very important problem in the real world, and I hope you can think about an effective way to protect the environment.
